

2012 Texas Archeology Academies

Lithics: Reading Stone Artifacts will be held this upcoming February 4th and 5th, in Uvalde. This academy will provide hands-on experience for recognizing and analyzing stone artifacts. It will include classroom and field portions taught by Dr. Harry Shafer, as well as demonstrations by invited guests.

Ceramics: The Stories Found in Pottery will be held in College Station over the weekend of March 3rd and 4th. This academy will teach attendees the importance of ceramic artifacts through lecture and hands-on exercises provided by Dr. Harry Shafer and Marybeth Tomka.

Fees for attending each academy are $95 for members and $155 (including membership dues) for individual non-members. Fees for other non-members are listed below. Lunches will be provided during each session. Please check Texas Archeological Society's web site, <http://www.txarch.org>, for updates and specific details about each of the academies. You can register by mail with the registration form provided in the newsletter or with a printout of the online PDF; you can also register online. All credit card registrations should be done online.
